

Palpable

(M) Queer roommates Cass and Jody deal with homophobic parents over holiday break as well as their burgeoning connection. This project is part of the Kitchen Sink Series, a collection of short films to be made over the next few years that each take place in a kitchen and focus on the nature of relationships. In a bid to win over new friends in her town, Sarah enters a cookie contest to become the ultimate "Cookie Queen" but discovers that the sweetest victory lies in the Christmas Spirit.